Subject : Disclosure of Litigation Contingencies

To : President,
The Stock Exchange of Thailand

Thai Airways International Public Company Limited (“Thai Airways”) would like to inform the Stock Exchange of Thailand of its litigation contingencies as follows:

1. Additional Claim issued by British Airways in Cargo Civil Class Action in UK

Thai Airways has received a notice of English lawyer representing British Airways on 4 February 2014 that British Airways, the Defendant in the Cargo Civil Class Action in UK and being claimed for damages from fuel and security surcharges fixing during 1999-2007 from such case, has issued the Additional Claim against 18 airlines, including Thai Airways on 28 November 2013. As Thai Airways is not the Party to the main proceedings, Thai Airways will be refusing to be bound by the judgment of the main proceedings. Thai Airways has just received copies of Additional Claim Particulars in this case on 4 February 2014 and has currently been preparing the Objection to British Airways’ Additional Claim.

2. Cargo civil case issued by LG Group Companies in Korea

Thai Airways has been informed by the office in Seoul on 22 January 2014 that LG Group Companies, including LG Chemical, LG Electronics, LG Display and LG Life Science, have filed a civil lawsuit against 12 airlines, including Thai Airways, on 27 November 2013 in order to claim damages from the conduct of conspiracy to fix fuel and security surcharges during 2003-2007. LG Group Companies has asserted the amount of claim at WKR 404,000,000 with interest (approximately BHT 12,000,000) outright and reserved their rights to increase the amount of claim if they can prove their claims to the court later on. Thai Airways has just received copies of the Plaintiff and court documents in this case on 22 January 2014 and is preparing the Answer to Plaintiff at present.

This matter is being reported for your information.

Yours sincerely,

Suvimol Bualerd
